PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Greetings Fellow Anglers,

It's October, the cooler days of autumn have set in, and the fish should be getting more active as they anticipate the coming of winter's colder temperatures. Kokanee spawning is winding down, although you will still see a lot of activity in the usual spawning areas near the shorelines of our lakes and reservoirs and in their tributaries. Larger browns and rainbows should be following the kokanee into the shallows to feast on the caviar being laid by the kokanee.

Although summer fishing is usually quite productive in our local waters, October is the time one can catch some of the largest fish of the season. Fishing can be very good even though the weather can be cold and wet. Some of the best fishing I've experienced has been on those cold days of late October during a cold rain or snowstorm. You may not be joined by many other anglers and you'll probably see very few kayakers or stand up paddle boarders. Dress appropriately for the cool weather, and you should experience some great fishing.

The club outing to Pyramid Lake will be held before the next newsletter comes out. I hope all of you who signed up for the Pyramid Lake adventure enjoy a successful and memorable trip. I'm looking forward to hearing many stories about the large Lahontan cutthroat that didn't get away. Perhaps this trip will become an annual event for the Sunriver Anglers.

Our Holiday Party will be held on December 14 at Crosswater. This party promises to be an enjoyable evening you will not want to miss. The food will be good and there will be an exceptional list of auction items and raffle prizes. Space will be limited to the first 70 people who sign up, so reserve your spot as soon as possible. You don't want to miss out on our biggest and final event of the year.

The Sunriver Anglers Club was established for charitable, educational, conservation and scientific purposes. Two of our efforts in September, Kokanee Carnival and a donation to a fishing event for children with cancer, are examples of the Sunriver Anglers working to meet these purposes. In late September, Jim Adams and Rod Juranek headed up the Sunriver Anglers' crew of volunteers for the Kokanee Karnival Hatchery Experience program at Fall River Hatchery. Both Jim and Rod spent many hours organizing the program and putting on the daily demonstrations for school children from throughout Central Oregon. Many thanks, Rod and Jim, for your outstanding efforts to give our local youngsters a better understanding of the fisheries and aquatic resources of this area.

The Sunriver Anglers also donated $250 to a Candlelighters program to give Central Oregon children with cancer and their families the opportunity to fish Odell Lake. The Candlelighters is a nonprofit organization that provides support and services to children with cancer who live in Oregon. This event was held on the first weekend in October and was a memorable experience for the kids, their families, and the volunteers who hosted them.

These are the world's oldest known fish hooks. The hooks were recently found by archaeologists in Sakitari Cave on Okinawa Island. Researchers have determined that the hooks are about 23,000 years old and were carved from sea snail shells. Many of us may be pretty old, but these hooks outdate us by a few years.

Good fishing and hooking, Marv

Club Meetings

October 20 Anglers Meeting – Fall Film Festival

Get your popcorn ready for the Sunriver Anglers Club Fall Film Festival. On Thursday, October 20, the Anglers' monthly meeting at the SHARC will be a night of beer tasting, popcorn, and short films. At 6:30, the Sunriver Brewery will be presenting some of their beers. Come early and sample a flight of their latest creations. They may have some new seasonal beers just produced for the fall and winter. At 7:00, after a short business meeting, we will see three or four short films.

With the fishing season winding down, and the weather getting cooler, this will be an opportunity to see some beautiful fish landed without getting cold and wet. Bring your notepad, because a new technique or fly may be shown. Write down the locations of where you see those fish taken. Put them on your calendar for next year to give yourself a chance to catch the same kind of trophy trout. Will it be a ten, twenty, or thirty fish night? All happening in about sixty minutes. Don't you wish that your fishing trips were all like a Sports Center highlights of the day show?

Put the Sunriver Anglers Holiday Party on your calendar for Wednesday, December 14, at the Crosswater Club. This is a great night of food and camaraderie. Included In the evening will be a silent auction. Our top hustlers have been out beating the bushes procuring some great items for the auction. The current list for the auction includes a custom made fly rod, boxes of custom flies tied by our members, rounds of golf from Central Oregon courses, beer donated by local breweries, lots of fly fishing accessories, and even a night at Historic Frenchglen Hotel.

These are just a few of the items on the current list for the silent auction. This list will grow as we get closer to the date because items continue to be donated. It will be a night not to be missed.

The Sunriver Brewing Company will be doing beer-tasting starting at 6:30 pm.

November 17

Nate Brumley, of Meridian, Idaho, will be the speaker for the Sunriver Anglers Club. The meeting will start early at 6:30pm with a Brumley fly tying demonstration. There will be a short business meeting at 7:00, followed by a multimedia presentation titled "Winter Fishing on Dry Flies."

Nate Brumley is a fly fisherman who wants to educate us to become better fly fishermen. He is the owner of dryflyinnovations.com, an online company that specializes in dry flies, fly-tying materials, books, and DVDs. An exciting and energetic speaker, Nate has fly fished for over forty years, always using a dry fly. There are no nymphs, streamers, or wet flies in his fly box.

Our speaker has just released a new book on dry fly fishing titled "Addicted to the Rise" in which he discusses searcher flies, fishing outside of the hatch, and luring fish to the surface using flies that simulate a hatch. The book is truly multimedia as it includes still pictures, descriptions, and a DVD with 43 different video clips. The last chapter contains recipes for his top twelve dry fly patterns.

Nate's custom flies are all tied here in the United States by master fly tiers. He sells over one hundred seventy of his own original patterns, along with sets that are specifically chosen for specific rivers and lakes. On his website, there are sets available for many Oregon destinations, including the Crooked River.

Nate has a blog on his website in which he describes his days on the water fishing and talks about how to be patient and persistent. Also on his website are river reports about the water, weather, and size and pattern of fly that caught fish.

You won't want to miss this experienced, informative speaker!

December – no meeting as we have the Dec. 14 Holiday party as the Crosswater Club.

Club Outings

In June, our speaker was Chris Wharton, a guide on Nevada's Pyramid Lake. He spoke of the Lahaton cutthroats that inhabit this lake and range up to twenty-five pounds. His talk and pictures were so motivating that close to a dozen Sunriver Anglers are traveling down to the lake the week before our November meeting to try this fishery. Pictures and stories will abound before and after the November 17 meeting. Come and find out who really caught the big one and has the true bragging rights.

More items coming!

Request for flies and auction items

For the silent auction, we would like to feature boxes of flies that you use on your favorite lakes and streams. Or tie a dozen of your favorite pattern or variations of the pattern.

Would you tie a dozen flies with a fly box for the auction? Mark the box for the lake or stream.

We would like the fly boxes and other items by December 1.

For those who don't tie, any other items you think would be a good auction item, such as knives, line, rods, reels, nets, bikes, float tubes, guided trips, hosted trips, jet boats, etc., would be appreciated.

Please contact Jerry Hubbard at jhubbard@chamberscable.com or call 541-390-9798 to sign up. Sunriver Anglers 501 (c) 3 Tax ID 93-0950301

Loaner Rod and Reel Outfits

The club has three fly fishing outfits that include a rod, reel, line, and case that are available on loan to Sunriver Anglers members. All of these outfits come with floating lines and two of them also have extra spools with clear intermediate sinking lines.

These rods are well balanced and easy to cast. Some of you may have tried them out during the casting session at the May meeting. Please contact Doug Vakoc (phone 541-598-8613 or email doug@vakoc.com) if you're interested in borrowing one of these outfits.

October Caddis Stimulator and Aspen Leaf

Have you noticed those big lumbering mothy-like bugs flying over the Deschutes or Fall River lately? Chances are you were seeing the adult October Caddis. This caddis emerges in late September and October throughout many rivers in Oregon and Northern California. WestFly, the well-known fly fishing and entomology website in the Pacific Northwest, nicknamed this bug “the Great Pumpkin of Western Rivers.”

It is a big bug and for a few short weeks in the fall can be important to imitate, as these insects make a tasty treat for rising trout. A steelhead will occasionally take this pattern on the surface as well, skated at the tail out of your favorite steelhead run! It is an honest size 8, which makes it a pattern that is easy to see on the water. And one doesn't have to cast delicately with this fly.

During egg laying flights, the October Caddis daps the water's surface to deposit its eggs. It is often this behavior that we are trying to imitate as fly fishermen. So a little “splat cast” on the water is a good thing with this pattern. You generally won't see lots of these bugs about, but the trout know they are there and will take them eagerly if afforded the opportunity. Look for the egg laying flight in the afternoon and evening. Even if you don't see the naturals about, this fly can be a good searching pattern and will often raise a wary trout looking for a large meal.

October Caddis Adult

The October Caddis Stimulator is a pattern I have tied for years to imitate these big bugs on California's McCloud and Upper Sacramento rivers. When we relocated to Sunriver, I dug this fly out of my box one day on the Lower Deschutes and it performed magically! The bushy hackle and wing will give a convincing impression of a caddis. This fly is designed to float high on the water, and can be skated and skipped on the water much like the naturals. I've even recently heard of fly fishers casting October Caddis imitations like this one on Crane Prairie, skating them similar to a traveling sedge. I continue to adapt this pattern by using a darker wing and hackle and adding just a bit of Krystal Flash to help the fly shimmer on the water's surface.

Next time you are out fishing, look for that big mothy-looking October Caddis in the evening as the natural returns to the stream to lay its eggs, and be ready to splat and skate this fly along the banks and riffles in search of rising trout.

October Caddis CDC Pattern Recipe:

Hook:	Tiemco 200R or 2312 hook in size 8-10
Thread:	Ultra UTC Fluorescent Red 210 Denier (6/0)
Tail:	Dark dyed elk in burnt orange
Abdomen:	Spirit River UV2 Scud Shrimp Golden Stone
Abdomen Hackle:	Whiting Dry Fly Hackle in dark dun ribbed with copper wire
Under wing:	Dark olive Krystal Flash
Over wing:	Dark dyed elk in burnt orange
Thorax:	Spirit River Brite Blend Polar Orange
Thorax Hackle:	Dark brown Whiting Dry Fly Hackle
Head:	Fluorescent Red

Tying instructions and steps are published in video form and can be found on the Sunriver Anglers Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/SunriverAnglers/> or at the following YouTube URL: <https://youtu.be/EtU5ifcZUKA>

Experiment with this pattern during late September and October for the prolific October Caddis hatches that occur on the Lower Deschutes River. If you have questions or would like additional information about the October Caddis Stimulator pattern, please don't hesitate to email me. Or if you have suggestions on future patterns to feature in this column, I welcome your input. I can be reached at philfischer@sbcglobal.net

Member-Get-A-Member

Every time you recruit a new member, you help strengthen the Sunriver Anglers.

Recruiting a member is easy—when you connect with fellow anglers at meetings, online, or while fishing, simply tell them how you benefit from your membership in the Sunriver Anglers and suggest that they visit www.sunriveranglers.org to learn more about the value of membership.

If they decide to join, ask them to put your name on the membership application (available on our website) so you get the credit. It's that simple. Your reward?
